These homes have given them a chance to escape life on the streets, gain access to shelter, education and a future, and above all find a home and a family where before there was none.

“Without family nothing else matters, everything from the top to bottom falls apart or descends into chaos... the loss of home leaves a gap that can never be filled.”

- Family Matters by Rohinton Mistry

IN SYNC WITH THE THEME, MANAGING WITH THE PANDEMIC: BUDDY SYSTEM

The COVID-19 lockdown situation must not dampen our spirits. We can still reach out and help the DISADVANTAGED children. SXIE has undertaken community work this year in an online mode. The B.Ed. practicum makes it compulsory for students to engage in community work, where they are awarded 20 marks.

With a true spirit of community work, derived from the vision and mission of SXIE with the theme of the year “ BUILDING A HOPE-FILLED FUTURE”, SXIE students are expected to engage in community work with a service oriented attitude, keeping in mind the values of cooperation and team spirit.

The community work would lead to the development of leadership and skills of online teaching and organising recreational activities for the inmates. In order to achieve maximum results, the BUDDY system is adopted.

BUDDY SYSTEM : The S.Y.B.Ed. students and F.Y.B.Ed. students are paired and made into a group for one centre. This will enable the peer training and peer exchange of skills. The S.Y.B.Ed. students being trained in online skills for all the internship lessons will be able to provide the requisite mentoring to their F.Y. counterpart, enabling them to deliver the program in the online mode. The incidental learning of the buddy system would be to learn better communication skills and create a collaborative learning environment. This would also lead to linkages between the seniors and juniors and help them to be directed towards achieving the common goal of the institution and the community work program.

OBJECTIVES OF THE PROGRAM

- To distribute students in different community work centers
- To orient students on the needs and context of the centres through the buddy system
- To sensitise students on the theme Building a Hope-filled Future and its sub themes in the context of the community work
- To prepare teaching aids to suit the teaching learning context in the community
- To prepare lesson plans to deliver in the community centre
- To prepare the students for the community work through buddy system.
- To prepare modules on basic computer skills
- To develop teaching skills during the community work.
- To help students reflect on their experience
- To make participatory chart for the execution of the plan
- To conduct assemblies to disseminate the learning.
- To submit community engagement report with evidence
